EXPLANATION

Names of states and countries, the usual postoffice abbreviations, as N. Y., Ala., U. S. Phrases in Italics signify titles of papers. Author's name follows title.

The Index contains the names of all speakers at the meeting and of all persons to whom important reference is made or who are quoted. The Index does not contain reference by name to officers and members of committees, nor ordinarily to speakers whose words are not published. These may be found by reference under the words "committee" and "officers."

The Index contains references to all geographical divisions to which important reference is made, except where series of data or statistics are given, with many references to cities or states. In such cases the material is usually classified under general headings such as "statistics," "studies," etc.

Papers, addresses and reports will be found not by reference to their exact titles, but under the general subjects to which they most nearly relate. The Index is intended to include all the more important subject references in the volume.
